KEY RISKS

6. What are the key risks associated with this product?

General risks

- Fund management risk – This risk refers to the day-to-day management of the Fund by us which will impact the performance of the Fund. For example, investment decisions undertaken by us as a result of an incorrect view of the market or any non-compliance with internal policies, investment mandate, the Deed, relevant law or guidelines due to factors such as human error, fraudulent, dishonesty or weaknesses in operational process and systems, may adversely affect the performance of the Fund.
- Inflation risk - This is the risk that your investment in the Fund may not grow or generate income at a rate that keeps pace with inflation. This would reduce your purchasing power even though the value of the investment in monetary terms has increased.
- Loan financing risk - This risk occurs when you take a loan or financing to finance your investment. The inherent risk of investing with borrowed money/financed includes you being unable to service the loan/financed repayments. In the event Units are used as collateral, you may be required to top-up your existing instalment if the prices of Units fall below a certain level due to market conditions. Failing which, the Units may be sold at a lower NAV per Unit as compared to the NAV per Unit at the point of purchase towards settling the loan/financed.
- Operational risk - Operational risk is the risk of loss due to the breakdown, deficiencies or weaknesses in the operational support functions resulting in the operations or internal control processes producing an insufficient degree of customer quality or internal control by us. Operational risk is typically associated with human error, system failure, fraud and inadequate or defective procedures and controls.

Specific risks

- Credit and default risk – Credit risk relates to the creditworthiness of the issuers of the Islamic money markets instruments and Islamic deposits (“investments”) and their expected ability to make timely payment of profit and/or principal. Any adverse situations faced by the issuer may impact the value as well as liquidity of the investments. In the case of rated investments, this may lead to a credit downgrade. Default risk relates to the risk of an issuer of the investments either defaulting on payments or failing to make payments in a timely manner which will in turn adversely affect the value of the investments. This could adversely affect the value of the Fund.
- Concentration risk – This risk arises because the Fund may have placement of Islamic deposits with a single Financial Institution. The Fund is subject to the risks linked to the particular Financial Institution. The risk may be in the form of credit risk, for example, when the particular Financial Institution is not able to repay the interest and/or principal possibly due to its poor financial position. Therefore, should such risk happens, the Fund’s concentrated portfolio will cause the Fund’s overall value to decline to a greater degree than if the Fund was exposed to a less concentrated portfolio.
- Profit rate risk – Islamic money market instruments are subject to profit rate fluctuations. Generally, movement in profit rates affects the prices of Islamic money market instruments inversely. For example, when profit rates rise, prices of Islamic money market instruments will fall. The fluctuations of the prices of Islamic money market instruments will also have an impact on the NAV of the Fund. This risk can largely be eliminated by holding the Islamic money market instruments until their maturity. We also manage profit rate risk by considering each Islamic money market instruments’ sensitivity to profit rate changes. When profit interest rates are expected to increase, the Fund would then likely seek to switch to Islamic money market instruments that are less sensitive to profit rate changes.
- NAV fluctuation risk – A This risk arises when the NAV per Unit of the Fund fluctuates hence the NAV per Unit of the Fund may not be maintained at MYR1.00. This risk may be due to the factors such as interest rate outlook where movement in interest rates affects the Islamic money market instruments’ (“investments”) prices inversely. For example, when interest rates rise, prices of the investments will fall. If the prices fall below the cost of the investments, this may incur losses to the Fund and the NAV of the Fund may not be maintained at MYR1.00. Liquidity of the Fund is another factor which contributes to this risk. For example, a sudden liquidation of assets due to large repurchase requests may cause the assets to be sold not in the interest of existing Unit Holders due to lower selling price of the assets.
- Reinvestment risk – This risk arises when payment of interest from Islamic money market instruments are reinvested at a rate lower than the prevailing interest rate when the investment was initially made. The risk is more likely to take place during a declining interest rate environment and may impact the yield of the investments which is calculated based on the assumption that all interest payments made on the investments are reinvested at the same interest rate when the investments were first made.
- Shariah non-compliance risk – As the Fund can only invest in Shariah-compliant securities, there is always a risk that losses may be suffered by the Fund when we are forced to dispose investments to rectify any Shariah non-compliance.

Note: Please refer to “Understanding the Risks of the Fund” in Information Memorandum for further details on each risk.

It is important to note that events affecting the investments cannot always be foreseen. Therefore, it is not possible to protect investments against all risks.

You are recommended to read the whole Information Memorandum to assess the risks associated with the Fund. If necessary, you should consult your professional adviser(s) for a better understanding of the risks.
