

AHAM World Series - Japan Growth Fund

PRODUCED: JUNE 2024

Why invest in Japan now?

Japan's Nikkei 225 Reaching All Time High

- Japan's main stock index, the Nikkei 225 reached an all-time high in February 2024. Despite this, the Price/Earnings (PE) ratio is at a reasonable level of 16x compared to 34 years ago during the previous peak in 1989 of 50x ratio.

Japan Corporate Earnings are Also Growing

- Comparing TOPIX to the S&P 500 and MSCI Asia (Ex-Japan) EPS Growth Rates, TOPIX surprisingly takes the lead with an annualised growth rate of 8.5% p.a, surpassing 7.4% p.a and 0.2% p.a, respectively.

Market and Corporate Reforms

- Since 2012, Japan government has enacted reforms to enhance profitability, shareholder returns, and overall market valuations. These efforts have yielded success, shown by a threefold rise in TOPIX dividend per share and increased corporate buybacks since 2010.

Revamp of NISA

- In the beginning of 2024, significant changes were made to the Nippon Individual Savings Account ("NISA"), effectively extending lifetime tax benefits for investments under NISA, and doubling both its annual and lifetime limits.
- A majority of Japanese households continue to hold their wealth in currency and deposits, suggesting that retail participation may not yet be active.

External Fund Manager, Nikko Asset Management Investment Process

Investment Philosophy

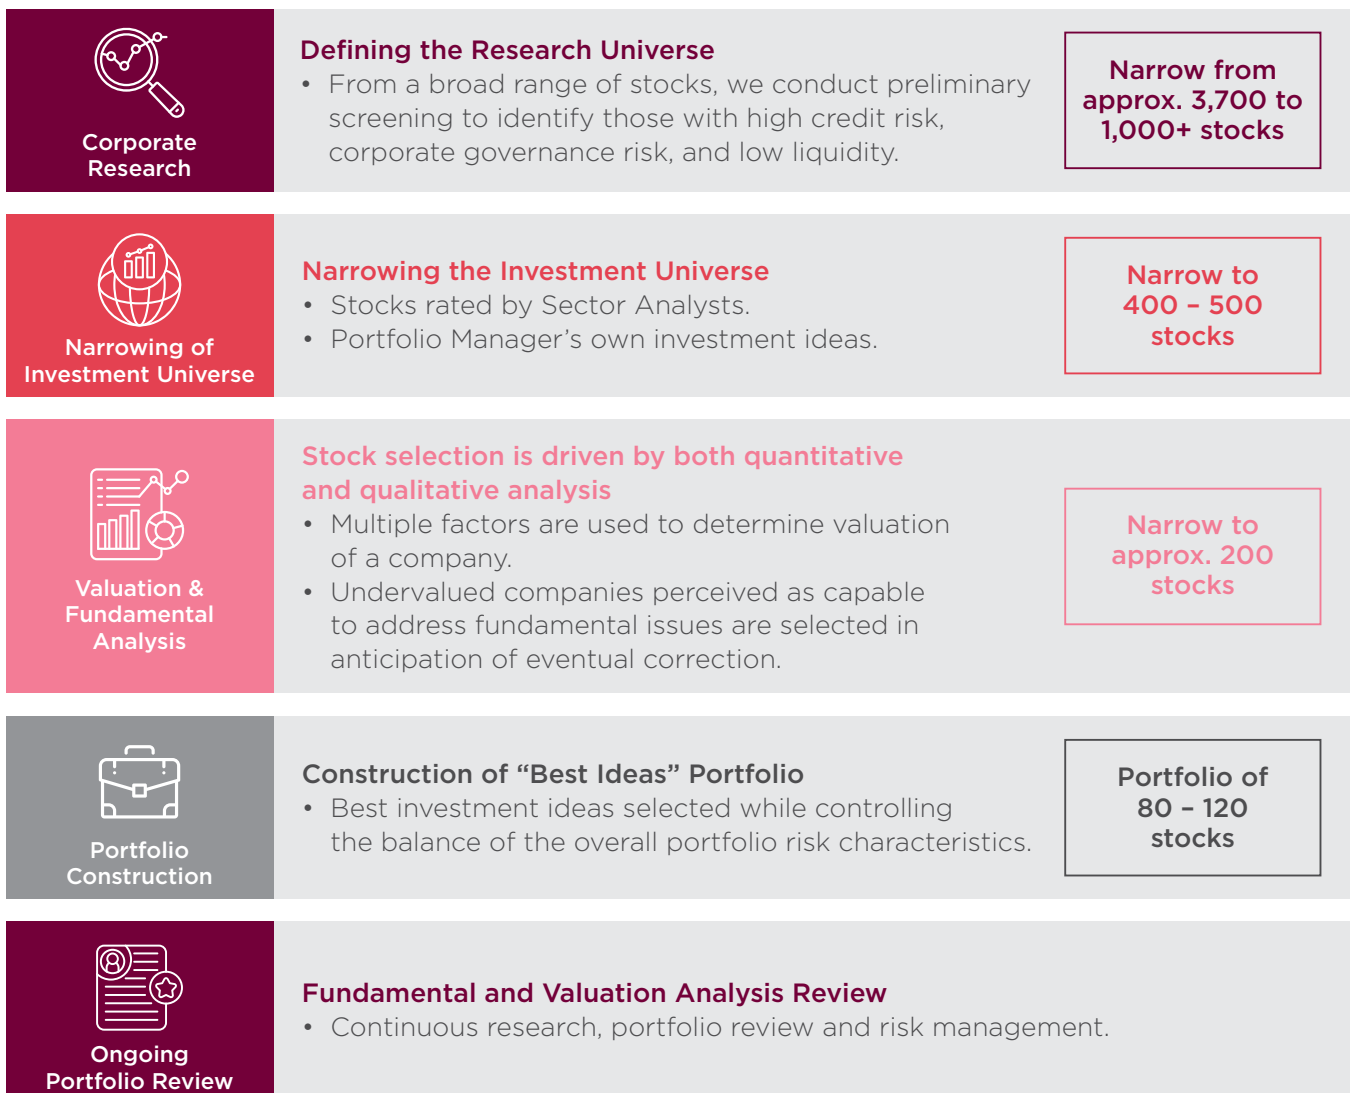

- Identify undervalued companies with the potential for improvement and turnover, which may lead to higher returns.
- Invest in undervalued companies particularly where market has excessively priced in negative news.
- Select companies with high chance of achieving earnings recovery, maintaining growth, or changing capital policies.
- Search for companies that are likely to accelerate Return on Equity and bias towards value stocks (undervalued stocks).
- Additional focus on small/mid-cap stocks overlooked by the market.

Investment Strategy

- A strategy focused on investing in undervalued Japanese equities.
- Expected holding period of portfolio stocks of 3 years.
- Target outperformance against TOPIX index.

Investment Process

- The investment process is rigorous, encompassing both quantitative and qualitative criteria.
